

Visiting Cape Cod – April 2019

When the clock ticks “Patriot’s Week is Over”, it’s time for us to head to Cape Cod, MA, for our annual adventure. Our favorite haunts were open from Orleans to P-Town and we found two new keepers. The morning begins with a 2+ mile bird-watching walk on the Bike Trail before breakfast. This week entertained us with quite cool brisk winds and cloudy skies with occasional beautiful sunshine between rain spells. No whales or live dolphins, but lots of interesting days along the coastlines and a bit of beaching.

And for the photos, click on the Cape Cod – April -2019.